Happy New Year

This New Year brings some changes to our office. First of all congratulations to Amandeep, my assistant, as she will be taking a year off for maternity leave. In her place is Stephanie, who has been working with us for the last couple of months, learning our routines and getting to know our patients.

Also this year Dr. Lunn has attained the Preferred Provider status with Invisalign. (clear aligner orthodontics) This was achieved by learning the latest technological advances through continuing education and meeting the Invisalign's company standards and requirements.

We have added a digital panoramic x-ray machine that will enhance our diagnostic skills, decrease radiation exposure and simplify our orthodontic diagnostics and need for patients to go elsewhere for this procedure. We also have added an additional operatory to better serve emergency patients.

We will be open during the Olympics on February 15, 16, and 17th and the following week, February 22, 23 and 24th.

Want to look good for an upcoming special day? Let us know if we can lessen your frown, or get rid of those crow's feet or perhaps an eye lift. Ask for our Free Botox consult.
